A wireless from Heatherdown on Saturday explained why the Dramatic Club didn't get here Friday night. It seems while crossing Bluejoint Creek the band-wagon slipped off, and they were unable to continue. A rumor had been current that Tomkins Hired Man had escaped, but this wasn't so; it were the trouble with the band-wagon which caused the delay.

Monday's Ball Game.

Comet's ball team came up Monday night and played the local team at the Fair Grounds. The game appeared to be rather one-sided, the score standing 17--5 at the close. Comet's battery was Jones, Berry, Graden, Henry Sinner; while Stony Plain's consisted of Brown, Sam Zucht and Philip Fuhr. Mr Wood umpired the game in a satisfactory manner, all excepting one gent in the judges' stand with the soprano voice. These teams will be seen again tomorrow at the big picnic.

Who and What Are We?

Is there such a person as a Canadian?

The Government of Canada says there is not. According to the official records there is not one Canadian among the eight or nine million inhabitants of this Dominion. Neither the Premier of Canada, nor any one of the Premiers of the nine Provinces, is a Canadian. They may have been born in Canada, and their parents and grandparents before them, but that makes no difference—they are not Canadians. The Government of Canada says so, and has instructed its army of census officials to record the amazing fact.

Readers of the above may be skeptical of the truth of these assertions, but a little quiet inquiry and investigation on their part will soon establish the correctness of the statements made.

Commencing on June 1st the work of taking the decennial census of Canada was begun and enumerators began visiting the homes of the Dominion armed with official forms and pencil in hand asking questions of all and sundry as to their names, age, place of birth, nationality, etc. Coming to the question of nationality, a man or woman born in Canada, very naturally reply that they are Canadians. But Mr. Census-taker retorts that they are not. They may be anything else, but they most assuredly are not Canadians. When these patriotic sons or daughters of Canada insist they are Canadians, first, last and all the time, and nothing else, the faithful servant of the Government of Canada is forced to explain to them that there are no Canadians; the Government does not recognize them at all in the official tabulation of the nationality of the residents of the Dominion.

Mr. Census-taker will then ask: "Where was your father born?" "In Canada," comes the reply. "Where was your mother born?" Again the answer is, "In Canada." "Well, they are not Canadians either," is the dictum. And then Mr. Census-taker will explain that Canada is not a nation and, therefore, there can be no Canadian nationality. He may then ask: "Were your grandparents, or possibly your great-grandparents, Irish?" The ordinary Canadian resident may retort: "What has that got to do with it; Ireland is not a nation. It is even less a nation than Canada. Canada enjoys not only full self-government, but it is a member of the League of Nations on a basis of entire equality with all other nations, which Ireland is not".

The logical force of such an answer is, however, entirely lost upon the Government of Canada. Residents of this Dominion may be classified as Irish, or Scotch, or Welsh, or Hottentot, or Chinese, or Turks—anything almost but Canadian, even though it is necessary to go back prior to the days of Jacques Cartier to find out some remote ancestor born outside the boundaries of the Dominion in order to fix some nationality upon native-born Canadians.

This is not a far-fetched description, because the writer has personal knowledge of an instance where a Canadian-born citizen informed the census enumerator that he had no knowledge of any ancestors but those whose place of birth was Canada, and who was, therefore, recorded by the enumerator as "Nationality unknown"

Yet our politicians and statesmen boast of Canada as a nation. In rounded periods and with great eloquence they dwell upon this Dominion's place among the nations, and the prominent part it plays in the councils of the League of Nations. On all sides exhortations are heard of our duty to Canadianize our new settlers from "foreign" lands. The Canadianizing of all peoples within our bounds is urged as a foremost Canadian duty and responsibility. Yet when the children of these "New Canadians" proudly say: "I am a Canadian," the Government of Canada officially tells them they are mistaken; they are Germans, or Russians, or Poles, or Austrians, or Italians, but they are not Canadians and never can be, nor can their children or children's children ever be throughout the ages yet to come.

Pick up the official census returns for all past decades and see if you can find that there is a Canadian living in Canada.

Is it not high time that this obsolete, antiquated classification of bygone years be discarded. Has the time not come when a person born in Canada has a right to be classified as a Canadian and not be compelled to accept official designation of some other nationality which he will never accept for himself personally?

What is the sense of preaching Canadianism and seeking to create and develop a Canadian national sentiment, Canadian art, Canadian literature, a true and lasting pride in Canada and Canadian institutions, if for all time the world is to be officially informed through the publications of the Canadian Government that such a person as a Canadian is non-existent, that this Dominion is still an infant colony of little or no importance inhabited for the time being by English, Scotch, Irish, Welsh, American, German, Austrian, Russian and other peoples?

Canada talking of having its own Minister at Washington, sitting in the councils of the League of Nations, taking its full part in the Great World War, and yet denying to its own native-born sons and daughters the right to the name Canadian presents an anomoly that should be removed. The Ottawa Government had better bestir itself and place itself and the official records of this Dominion in line with real Canadian sentiment and aspirations.

IS THERE A BABY IN YOUR HOME?

Is there a baby or young children in your home? If there is you should not be without a box of Baby's Own Tablets. Childhood ailments come quickly and means should always be at hand to promptly fight them. Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal home remedy. They regulate the bowels; sweeten the stomach; banish constipation, and indigestion break up colds and simple fevers—in fact they relieve all the minor ills of little ones. My baby suffered terribly from indigestion and vomiting, but the Tablets soon set her right and now she is in perfect health." Mrs. Doyle Forced To Live Entirely On Bread And Milk She Declares

"I think it is enough to make anyone happy to enjoy the splendid health I do now," said Mrs. John Doyle, 123 John St., North, Hamilton, Ont.

"Last winter I had the 'flu' and, as I had been in a badly rundown condition for several years, it just seemed to wreck my whole system. All through the winter I was down in bed half the time and instead of getting better, I seemed to get worse. My stomach was so badly upset that I had to live entirely on bread and milk. If I ventured to eat anything else at all I would simply suffer agony.

"I would have terrible pains in my stomach and would bloat up so bad that I often felt as if I was suffocating. My nerves were worn to a frazzle and I had frequent headaches. I went to bed tired, got up feeling tired and all through the day hardly had the strength to do a thing.

"But I'm so glad I tried Tanlac, because my suffering is all over now. I just feel splendid, eat whatever I wish and never have a touch of indigestion. My nerves are steady and I am free from headaches. I sleep perfectly sound and just feel so much stronger that the housework seems easier than ever. My daughter has taken Tanlac since it restored my health and it has helped her just like it did me. Tanlac has certainly been a blessing in our home."

Thursday's Hail Storm.

The hail storm Thursday evening at one time threatened to assume the aspect of a free ice delivery. While not as big as a hen's egg, some which fell along Cobblers' Row were the Partridge Wyandot size

In the Township north, considerable damage was done to the fields of grain and to gardens.

The Blueberry Schoolhouse lost all its windows on the west side; and the Church there had about the same experience. Mr E W Bell had about 18 panes of glass broken, and besides had his house damaged by having the rain blow into the openings made. All the residents in this district suffered more or less severely.

While the stones which fell around here didn't go over the three-quarter-inch size, stones were picked up at Spruce Grove which measured 1¼ in. longwise.

Fortunately, the hail strip was narrow, and not very much damage was done in the district south of town.

The Revolving Doormat.

In London they now tell a story of a bailiff who went out to effect a seizure on the contents of a house. The inventory began with the chattels in the attic, downward to the cellar. When the dining room was reached the tale of furniture ran thus:—

"One dining-table, oak.
"One set of chairs (6), oak.
"One sideboard oak.
"Two bottles of whiskey, full"

Then the word "full" was struck out and replaced by the word "empty." Soon the inventory went on in a hand that straggled and lurched diagonally across the page until it finally closed with:—

"One revolving doormat."
"One Circular Dresser."

The Sun Letter Box.

Editor Stony Plain Sun:

Dear Sir—As an onlooker at the ceremony on a recent Friday at the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, connected with the unveiling of a Memorial to those of the staff who enlisted for military duty during the late war, the thought occurred to me, as it doubtless did to others, why have we not, as a Town or as a Constituency, done something in the same direction?

It is no credit to us, and I am sure most people are only waiting for a lead. A number who went from this district gave their lives in answer to the call of duty. By perpetuating their memory we would be setting the seal of honor on noble duty and self-sacrifice which could be only of the highest incentive to the youth of our district to emulate the spirit of unselfishness and high motives which actuated those splendid young fellows who were willing to give their lives in what they deemed the cause of justice and right. Nothing has been done, and I suggest that we commence a Memorial Fund right away.

The idea as it suggests itself to me and, I believe, others, is to give everybody in the district the privilege of subscribing a small amount, say nothing more than $1, in defraying the cost of some simple monument on which the names of those who never came back could be inscribed.

Our Local Member and the mayor could call a small committee who would be willing to give their time in organising, and the writer is perfectly sure it would find a fitting response.

The whole cost need not be more than $150, and it would be better to limit the subscriptions with a view to making it as widely subscribed as possible; and as to the district, to prevent the difficulty of asking where the boundary should be, I would suggest the boundary of the constituency offer the most natural dividing line.

To find the names, the constituency should be divided into postal districts; and, with careful organisation there should not be much difficulty in obtaining the names.

Whilst on the subject, might I suggest that the Honor Roll in the Town Hall be brought up to date, and names added which should have been there long ago—Mr Broadbent and others. True, it means a little work, but here is one who is more than willing to help.

Dominion Day Celebration.

Weather permitting, tomorrow's big Dominion Day celebration at Stony Plain should be a grand success.

A splendid program has been arranged, which includes—

A Farmers' Trot;
Bicycle Races;
Indian Pony Races;
Ford Automobile Race;
Tug-of-War, East of the Fifth vs. West of the Fifth;
and a full card of events for young athletes and the children.

A first-class band from Edmonton will be on the grounds.

The good baseball team of the Hudson's Bay Co. will be out and tangle with the local ball players for a prize of $15. Some good playing is looked for in this game.

In the football section, Mike's Pets will run up against an aggregation of players from the City, and the local team should give a good account of itself.

A basketball game has also been arranged for.

Sports commence at 12.30, with the ball game.

Splendid arrangements have been made to put up good meals and lunches. Come hungry.

The day's program will wind up with a big dance in Ducholke's Hall, in the evening.

Picnic at Brightbank.

Stirling's Ranch, at Jackfish Lake, was en fete on June 22d, when the Brightbank Community held a very successful picnic—a Real family gathering. The children had the time of their life, especially in the sports and races. The Brightbank baseball team lived up to their reputation and in spite of the heavy rainfall played right thru, and gave the Mewassin team a run for their money, beating them by 5 to 4. The Ladies' Aid looked after the refreshments and catered excellently.

Spruce Grove M. D.

Spruce Grove M. D. held another lively session on Thursday last.

The minutes of a former meeting, over which there had been a lot of discussion, were read, and it was found that, at that time, Mr Briscoe had been appointed Secretary, much to the surprise of a number of those present.

The bill for the labor on the new Municipal Building, put in by Contractor Umbach, was up for discussion. The contractor evidently had friends among the new Councillors, as his bill was passed after only two hours' discussion.

The bill for lumber supplied by the Atlas Lumber Co. was also.

Several other bills were ordered paid.

The Councillors are in a predicament regarding the land on which their new building rests. Previous to the structure being started, the lot was offered to them on a 99-year lease at the nominal rent of $1 a year. This offer was not entertained by the Council at that time, and now it is understood the owner would like to sell the lot for $300, or lease it for a year.

The Homesteaders

— BY —

ROBERT J. C. STEAD

Published By Special Arrangement With the Author.

Prelude.

Six little slates clattered into place, and six little figures stood erect between their benches.

"Right! Turn" said the master. "March! School is dismissed"; and six pairs of bare little legs twinkled along the aisle, across the well-worn threshold, down the big stone step, and into the dusty road, warm with the rays of the Indian summer sun.

The master watched them from the open window until they vanished behind a ridge of beech trees that cut his vision from the concession. While they remained within sight a smile played upon the features of his strong, sun-burned face, but as the little calico dress was swallowed by the wood the smile died down, and for a moment he stood, a grave and thoughtful statue framed within the white pine casings of the sash. His sober grey eyes stared unseeing into the forest, while the light wind that stirred the golden maple leaves toyed gently with his unruly locks.

His brown study lasted only a moment. With a quick movement he walked to the blackboard, caught up a section of sheepskin, and began erasing the symbols of the day's instructions.

"Well, I suppose there's reward in heaven," he said to himself, as he set the little schoolroom in order. "There isn't much here. The farmers will pay a man more to doctor their sick sheep than to teach their children. But, of course, they get both mutton and wool from a sheep. I won't stand it longer than the spring. If others can take the chance I can take it too. If it were not for her I would go to-morrow."

The last remark seemed to unlink a new chain of thought. The grey eyes lit up again. He wielded the broom briskly for a minute, then tossed it in a corner, fastened the windows, slipped a little folder into his pocket, locked the door behind him, carefully placed the key under the stone step where the first child in the morning would find it, and swung in a rapid stride down a by-path leading from the little schoolhouse into the forest.

Ten minutes' quick walking in the woods, now glorious in all their autumn splendour, brought him to a point where the sky stood up, pale blue, evasive, through the trees. The next moment he was at the water's edge, and a limpid lake stretched away to where the forests of the farther shore mingled hazily with sky and water. The point where he stood was a little bay, ringed with water-worn stones and hemmed around by the forest, except for one wedge of blue that broadened into the distance. He glanced about, as though expecting someone; he whistled a line of a popular song, but the only reply was from a saucy eavesdropper which, perched on a near-by limb, trilled back its own liquid notes in answer.

"I may as well improve the moments consulting my chart," he remarked to his undulating imagine in the water. "This thing of embarking on two new seas at once calls for skilful piloting." He seated himself on a stone, drew from his pocket the folder, and spread a map before him.

In a few moments he was so engrossed that he did not hear the almost noiseless motion of a canoe as it thrust its brown nose into the blue wedge before him. The canoe slid with its own momentum gracefully through the quiet waters, suddenly revealing a picture for the heart of any artist. Kneeling near its stern, her paddle held aloft and dripping, her brown arms and brounner hair glistening in the mellow sun, her face bright with the light of its own expectancy, was a lithe and beautiful girl. In an instant her eye located the young man on the bank, and the lips moulded as though to speak; but when she saw how unobserved she was she remained silent and upright as an Indian while the canoe slipped gently toward the shore. Presently it cushioned its nose in the velvety sand. She rose silently from her seat, and stole on moccasined tip-toes along the stones until she could have touched his hair with her fingers. But her eyes fell over his shoulder on the papers before him.

"Always at your studies," she cried, as he sprang eagerly to his feet. "You must be seeking a professorship. But I suppose you have to be always brushing up," she continued, bantteringly. "Your oldest pupil must be—let me see—not less than eight?"

"I declare, if it isn't Manitoba! What next? Siberia or Patagonia? I thought you were still in the Eastern Townships."

"So I am—in school. But out of school I am spending a good deal of my time in Manitoba, Mary."

She caught a grave note in his voice as he said her name. Seizing his cheeks between her hands she turned his face to her. "Answer me, John Harris. You are not thinking of going to Manitoba!"

"Suppose I say I am?"

"Then I am going too!"

"Mary!"

"John! Nothing unusual about a wife going with her husband, is there?"

"No, of course, but you know——"

"Yes, I know"—placing at the ring on her finger. "This still stands at par, doesn't it?"

"Yes, dear," he answered, raising the ring to his lips. "You know it does. But to venture into that wilderness means—you see, it means so much more to a woman than to a man."

"Not as much as staying at home—alone. You really don't think I would do that?"

"No, not exactly that. Let us sit down and I will tell you what I thought. Here, let me get the cushion. . . . There, that's better. Now let me start at the beginning.

"Until you came here last summer—until all this happened, you know—I was quite satisfied to go on teaching——"

"And I have sown discontent——"

"Please don't interrupt. Teaching seemed as good as anything else——"

"As good as anything else! Better than anything else, I should say. What is better than training the tender child, inspiring him with your ideals——"

"Oh, I know all about that. Until I began to have some genuine ideals of my own I was satisfied with it. But now—well, everything is different."

"I know," she answered. "The salary won't support two. There's the rub."

They sat for some minutes, gazing dreamily across the broad sheet of silver.

"And so you are going to Manitoba?" she said at length.

"Yes. There are possibilities there. It's a gamble, and that is why I didn't want to share it with you—at first. I thought I would spend a year; locate a homestead; get some kind of a house built; perhaps break some land. Then I would come back."

"And you wern't going to give me a word in all those preparations for our future? You have a lot to learn, yet, John. You won't find it in that folder, either."

He laughed lightly—a happy, boyish laugh. For weeks the determination to seek his fortune in the then almost unknown Canadian West had been growing upon him, and as it grew he shrank more and more from disclosing his plans to his fiancee. Had she been one of the country girls of the neighborhood, a daughter of the sturdy backwoods pioneers, bred to hard work in field and barnyard, he would have hesitated less. But she was sprung from gentler stock. It seemed almost profane to think of her in the lonely life of a homesteader on the bleak, unsettled plains—to see her in the monotony and drudgery of the pioneer life. He had been steeling himself for the ordeal; schooling himself with arguments; fortressing his resolve, unconsciously, perhaps, with the picture of his own heroism in braving the unknown. And she had scaled every breastwork at a bound, and captured the citadel by the adroit diplomacy of apparent surrender.

She had snatched his confession at an unguarded moment. He had not meant to tell her so much—so soon. As he thought over the wheels he had set in motion their possible course staggered him, and he found himself arguing against the step he contemplated.

"It's a gamble," he repeated. "The agricultural possibilities of the country have not been established. It may be adapted only to buffalo and Indians. They say the Selkirk settlers have seen hardships compared with which Ontario pioneers lived in luxury. . . . We may be far back from civilization, far from neighbors, or doctors, or churches, or any of those things which we take as a matter of course."

"Then you will need me with you, John, and I am going."

She could not mistake the look of admiration in his eyes. "Mary," he said, "you are a hero. I didn't think it was in you. I mean I——"

"A heroine if you please," she corrected. "But I am not that—not the least bit. I want to go because—because to go with you, even to Manitoba, is not nearly so dreadful as to stay at home without you."

"But come," said the girl, springing lightly to her feet, "we have matters of great moment for immediate consideration."

He was at her heels. One hand resting on his strong arm sufficed to steady her firm body as she tip-toed over the stones. Somewhere in the canoe she found a parcel, wrapped in a white napkin. Under a friendly beech she laid her dainties before him.

In a crimson glory the sun had sunk behind the black forest across the lake. The silver waters had draped in mist their fringe of inverted trees along the shore, and lay, passive and breathing and very still, beneath the smooth-cutting canoe. . . . One by one the stars came out in the heavens, and one by one their doubles wavered and shimmered in the lake. A duller point of light bespoke a settler's cabin on the distant shore.

"And we shall build our own home, and live our own lives, and love each other—always—only, for ever and ever?" she breathed.

"For ever and ever," he answered.

A waterfowl cut the air in his sharp, whistling flight. The last white shimmer of daylight faded from the surface of the lake. The lovers floated on, gently, joyously, into their ocean of hope and happiness.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Brilliant Scene Marks The Opening Of Ulster Parliament

King George Makes Plea For Peace Between Two Branches of Irish Race.

Belfast.—The opening of the Northern Parliament by the King, who was accompanied by Queen Mary, was carried out with all the pageantry and ceremony with which formal actions of British sovereigns are surrounded. The King himself wore the uniform of an admiral, with the blue sash of the Order of the Garter across his breast, while the Queen, who looked extremely pale and nervous, was in white satin, without any insignia of her rank. But a string of pearls was about her neck and large clusters of diamonds and emeralds shone from her collar and brooch.

A real modern note was struck by the King's speech, which he read in a strong, clear voice, emphasizing the points which he wished to impress on the audience. His plea for peace and conciliation between the two branches of the Irish race fell on welcome ears, for in no part of Ireland is peace more desired than in Ulster, where business has suffered greatly by the strife throughout the country and by the Sinn Fein boycott of Ulster goods.

During the delivery of the King's speech the whole audience remained standing, with eyes fixed on Their Majesties in golden chairs. Prior to this, prayers were said by the Primate of Ireland, Anglican, the Presbyterian moderator and the senior Methodist minister, thus all the religions represented in the Parliament were recognized.

The Nationalists and Sinn Feiners confined themselves to refraining from all participation in the ceremonies.

The King and Queen re-embarked on the royal yacht, receiving a noisy greeting from the shipyard workers.

The King conferred honors on a number of prominent Belfast men. Baron Pirrie was created a Viscount, and Lord Mayor Coates, a baronet. Robert Blair, managing director of the Belfast Telegraph and Trevor Henderson, director of the Belfast News, received knighthoods.

A CORDIAL INVITATION TO DISEASE

This is an apt description of Constipation. It's an unnatural condition to begin with—but it's dangerous because it leads to indigestion, fills the system with poisons, brings on anaemia. You don't need a purgative, you don't want to weaken the system by a harsh gripping medicine—what you need is mild natural stimulant to the bowels. You get just what you need in Dr. Hamilton's Pills which tone up the liver, restore the bowels to perfect action and positively end constipation. You'll feel tip top after regulating your system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Good for young and old—a real family medicine. 25c all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

Denounces Handling Of Immigrants

Director of Protective Association Says System Is Wrong.

Ottawa—Denunciation of the system of handling immigrants arriving in Canada was again made by Abbe Philipe Casgrain, director of the Immigration Protective Association here. The abbe cited instances where whole families have been deported and returned to the Old Country where they have no homes now to go to, and where they must start life again under worse conditions than ever, having wasted their savings in a useless and expensive voyage.

The abbe suggested that some way should be devised of officially examining immigrants in the Old Country.

Active Immigration Work Is Delayed

Settlers Will Not Be Brought In By Western Canada Colonization Association Until The Provinces Pass The Desired Land Listing Legislation. Preparatory Work Will Continue.

At a conference between the Eastern and Western Directors of the Western Canada Colonization Association it was decided that the successful functioning of the Association depends upon the working out of a joint land settlement plan under which the efforts of the Federal and Provincial Governments will be effectively co-ordinated. Nothing short of such a plan will afford this Association a real basis upon which to carry out the vital national undertaking for which it was created. It is felt that the organization would be unwise to expend a large amount of money in securing high-class settlers only to find the lands increased in price on their arrival. It is realized that all promises and statements made to intending settlers must be fully carried out.

Until these suggestions are given effect so that there will be a reasonable assurance of results in actual land settlement, the directors do not feel justified in authorizing the expenditure of privately subscribed money which would necessarily be involved in a first year's programme. The obligations of the Association to voluntary financial supporters of this movement are such that it must not spend funds generously donated until the pathway of effective colonization is reasonably clear.

In the interval which must elapse before the proposals can be put into effect the Association will continue to press for the co-ordination and legislation necessary, and endeavor to complete the full subscription list of $1,500.00. The directors hope that the Federal Government will be represented at a proposed conference of Western Premiers and that as a result a uniform plant will be put into operation which will solve the unoccupied land problem and enable the Association to get to work.

Before leaving for Vancouver the Managing Director, Major-General A. D. McRae, C.B., made a brief statement to the press, in the course of which he said:—

"I agree with the decision unanimously reached by the Eastern and Western Directors after the most serious consideration of all the circumstances. I am very proud of the splendid support which I have received from the members of the Board, particularly in regard to my land listing plan. In their view, as in mine, the legislation asked from the three Prairie Provinces is absolutely necessary to success. This or similar legislation must be put into effect before the unoccupied land problem is solved. The participation of the Federal Government is most essential. During the interval the association, of course, will have no need for the services of a Managing Director in charge of actual colonization work. Although retiring from my connection with the Association I have agreed to assist in pressing for the proposed legislation before the coming conference of Western Premiers. Knowing something of past immigration movements to the prairies I make bold to say that if given the proper basis to start on the Western Canada Colonization Association has within it the power to greatly assist the Governments in the colonization of our unoccupied lands."

Interest Shown In British Census

Statisticians Believe Population Has Grown Despite War Losses.

London.—Statisticians are looking forward with unusual interest to the returns of the British census and wondering what the war has really done to the British Isles. They believe the population has grown appreciably despite war losses, largely because emigration was checked by the war.

The first British census was taken in 1801 and has been repeated every ten years since then. This is, therefore, the thirteenth census of British Isles. Over 38,000 enumerators are engaged.

Settlers For B. C. Will Be Selected

Choicest Lands In Province Offered As Inducement.

Victoria.—Hand picked settlers are to be brought to British Columbia in large numbers to fill up the vacant lands in northern and central parts of the province, according to plans just completed by owners of large areas, it is stated. Most of the owners of these lands are in England.

Some of the choicest lands in British Columbia will be offered settlers, who will be given their choice of locating in the Bulkley or Nechako valleys, or in the Vanderhoof, Prince George and Lillooet districts.

Old-Time Yarns in the West

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

The furs were untouched, being wrapped up in canvas, but half of a beautiful cow buffalo robe and half a rabbit skin robe were eaten. Never mind, I was too pleased to see the dogs again, so rewarded the boy handsomely and returned to Fairford in great style next day, the dogs in as good a humor as myself; and then I promised never again would we admit a stranger to our ranks.

When Chief Factor Archie McDonald ordered me to take charge of the Fairford Post, his instructions were to complete the new master's house as soon as possible. Then I was to remove everything of value in the old fort and burn the buildings, which had been up for many years. I was rather curious to know the why and wherefore as to burning the place, so asked him his reason. "Oh," was his reply, "there are some fool stories current at Fairford as to them being haunted, for some bloody rows took place there in the old drinking days."

Well, I reached Fairford all right and took possession of the place. I put an extra man or two on the new building and after settling down began making a few cautious inquiries as to what shape (if any) the spooks were supposed to take. Very little satisfaction was given me, but I noted that Indians and the usual hangers on did not like to be near or in the post after dark.

This establishment was built in the usual way in the form of a quadrangle and surrounded with a wall of hewed timber, at one end of the square the master's house and on each side various store houses, while the front was shut with the wall and large gates. The native men's houses stood at some distance away outside the enclosure. I and my cook, a Lewis man named Malcolm, were the only occupants of the fort at night; not though the only ones, as I always had my four famous dogs, Herod, Nero, Moro and Hero, who, if anyone touched me, would have had a bad time of it, as they were exceedingly fierce if set on to any person or animal. I forgot to mention that a platform of heavy sawn planks ran all round the square and most of these were old and rotten so one had to be careful in stepping for they would tip up and come down with a bang.

One evening, when the place was all quiet, Malcolm came in from the kitchen and I saw by his embarrassed manner that there was something on his mind. "Well, sir, master," and that was as far as he could get. However, I encouraged him, and bit by bit the truth came out. He wanted to go and sleep in the men's houses, and on asking his reasons, he said he kept hearing noises at night and also felt things moving, though he could see nothing. He hated to go and leave me alone, but he could not sleep the way things were going on. I finally told him he could go, and after his departure made a careful inspection of the whole premises and saw that all gates were closed and barred. Then, calling my dogs into the hall, I overhauled an old shot gun and loaded it heavily with powder and plenty of wadding, as I thought some attempt might be made through the night to scare me off the premises.

My room was at the front of the house, the window overlooking the square. This I left partly raised but pulled down the blind. Then, placing the gun handy, I blew out the candle and went to bed, the time being near midnight. Just as I was falling asleep I heard a heavy trampling noise coming round the square on the platforms, and I was out of bed like a flash, cocked my gun, and waited developments. The heavy tramping came right on past my window but there was nothing visible, though the night was light enough to see the other buildings plainly. It may have been imagination, but as the noise passed the window I thought I could detect a draught of cold air. Well it is no use disguising the fact that I felt creepy, but just then I thought of my dogs. The noise in the meantime had stopped, so I waited quietly for a repetition, and this came in a few minutes. The same heavy tramping started apparently close to the main fort entrance, then along past the Pemican store, then turning and coming right in front of my window. With that I threw the front door open and set the dogs on it. Out they went with furious growls, and back they came again, hair bristling up, and evidently cowed, as they retreated into the corner and would make no response when I urged them out again. Again, as I had followed them out, I could see nothing, but this time distinctly felt a cold draught air pass. The dogs either felt or saw something that scared them, and it may be the brute creation is more sensitive to non-visible aura's or whatever name it or they might be called than the human kind, or has civilization dulled our perceptive faculties.

It was several weeks before the new residence was ready for occupancy, and during this time I constantly heard the same heavy tramplings and other noises, and there was no doubt the dogs were affected, as generally they were joyous creatures always ready to sport or play with me. However, as no ill-effects occurred, I became used to the racket and yet was glad enough after vacating the premises to put a torch to the old fort.

During the same winter a mysterious light accompanied me for some hours on Lake Manitoba, which by its presence, affected my fearless dogs in the same way, but this I have described fully in a former article, entitled Indian Witchcraft.

Heart Weak, Nerves Shattered After the "Flu."

In a large majority of cases those who survived the last epidemic of Spanish influenza were left with weak hearts, shattered nerves, impoverished blood, and the whole system has been left in such a general weakened and exhausted condition that it has been impossible to get back your old health and strength.

If you are in this condition there is only one thing to do; take a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and see how quickly your heart will be strengthened, your nerves toned up and your blood enriched.

Mrs. W. W. Pearce, 14 Seaton St., Toronto, Ont., writes: "I was left with a weak heart and in a rundown condition from the "flu." My nerves were badly shattered, and I had such pains in my heart I could not sleep much at night. I took several doctors medicines without getting any better. My husband got me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I took one box I got relief; after taking six boxes have been well and not bothered since."

Automobile Price Reductions Of Western Interest

All-Canadian Car Proves Itself.—New Rock Levels Anticipate Quantity Reduction.

Western Canada development depends so much upon the extended use of motor cars that recent price reductions interest someone in practically every family in the West. That, for instance, of the new Overland to less than a thousand dollars at the Toronto factory is of wide importance.

New rock-bottom levels were calculated to be necessary if a complete return to normal conditions was to be accomplished. In the case of the company making the car cited, normal conditions involve factory production on a large scale.

This quantity production was attained last year. It will be remembered that when the Overland Company introduced the Model Four, the radical departure in spring suspension was looked upon as a marked development in light car construction. Much was, therefore, expected of this all-Canadian car. It has now had a year's proving by thousands of Canadian owners, who bought it for its appearance and its quite evident engine efficiency and comfort. They have found it also possessed of unexpectedly great stamina and economy. Getting 25 to 30 miles to the gallon of gasoline appears to be the average experience of owners—some reporting even 35 miles. Ten to fourteen thousand miles with a single set of tires is also common, so that the all-Canadian car has thoroughly proved itself, perhaps nowhere more than in Western Canada.

The 1921 car has many improvements and according to Willys-Overland officials, they expect a demand sufficient to keep the factories busy right along. In fact, it is stated that it is upon this expectation that they have based their new prices. Reports from both Winnipeg and Regina branches of this company show a marked stimulation in business during the very first month of the reductions.

Our New Serial Story.

Nearly everybody has heard of the fame of the Canadian author, Robert J C Stead, who is not only one of Canada's best writers of fiction, but is an author who has written most intimately concerning life and conditions in the prairie West.

We have been very fortunate in securing the serial rights of one of Mr Stead's best books, "The Homesteaders." The first instalment of this story will appear in an early issue.

Readers of "The Homesteaders will feel instinctively that the author is a man who has lived among the people of whom he writes.

We commend this story to our readers. Watch for the opening chapters. If not a regular subscriber to this paper, now is a good time to send in your subscription, so that you will miss no part of this interesting serial.

Practical Caossings.

"Say, Hiram, did you know that some of those horticultural experimenters were talking about crossing the strawberry with the milk weed, so's to hev strawberries and cream?"

"No but I read the other day of a bugologist who was tryin' to cross honey bees with lightning bugs, so they would work at night." "Pshaw, that's nothin'," put in the Kansas man. "Why in Kansas they plant potatoes and onions in alternate rows and that makes the eyes of the potatoes water, so they don't need no irrigation." Next!

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a Tonic and Blood Purifier, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

Boston Or Bust.

A lecturer in Boston told his audience that the earth is 360,000,000,000,000 miles away from the centre of the universe. That was a very nervy thing to say in a town which calls itself the hub.—Detroit Free Press.

Could Not Sleep

Mr. Earnest Clark, Police Officer, 338 King St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"For three years I suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness. I believe my condition was brought about by overwork. I had frequent headaches, neuralgic pains and twitching of nerves and muscles. I had indigestion, was short of breath and easily tired. I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and seven boxes of this medicine relieved me of all my symptoms. I am now feeling one hundred per cent. better than I was, and have to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the good health I am now enjoying."

World Happenings Briefly Told

Robert E. Tegler, an old-timer of Edmonton, and sole owner of the Tegler Block, the largest building in Edmonton, died recently.

When plates of ice cream were served to the 1,700 immigrants at Ellis Island, N.Y., the diners thought it a new kind of butter and spread it over their bread.

Gambling in long distance telephone calls is the latest industry in France. The number of phones is so inadequate that speculators have been buying up long distance calls in advance and holding them to retail at fabulous prices.

Nation-wide Fame. — There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Arctic Explorer Returns

Captain Amundsen arrived at Nome, Alaska, recently. His ship, the Maud, which wintered at Cape Serge, Siberia, lost her propeller in the ice, and she is expected to reach Nome some time this summer for repairs. The explorer, noted for his discovery of the South Pole, and his many Arctic and Antarctic voyages, said he would continue his efforts next year to reach the North Pole by drifting with Arctic ice floes as soon as repairs to his vessel were completed. He spent the winter on board the Maud with one native and three white companions, and said the party experienced few vicissitudes. He reached Nome on the trading schooner Herman, which picked him up at East Cape, Siberia.

Useful in Camp.—Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the Oil and the result will be the prevention of pains in the muscles, and should a cut, or contusion, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

DISCOVERED TRUE REMEDY FOR SYSTEMATIC CATARRH

A bad case of Catarrh is not an easy thing to treat, and a remedy that makes good, deserves great credit. Catarrhozone certainly fixed up Chas. H. Webb, who writes from Woodstock: "For a number of years I was troubled with Systematic Catarrh. Nothing helped me very much. I used Catarrhozone Inhaler and got relief. To build up my system, I used Ferrozone. This combination can't be beaten. They made me well." Your case may also be bad, but Catarrhozone will do for you what it did for Mr. Webb. Two months treatment $1.00, small size 50c. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

ALMOST HELPLESS FROM ST. VITUS DANCE

The Muscles of the Hands, Face and Body Affected.

St. Vitus dance is a disease of the nerves brought on by a morbid condition of the blood. It is common with children, and attacks girls more frequently than boys. Irritability is frequently one of the first signs noted. The child frets, is quarrelsome and does not sleep well. The jerky movements that characterize the disease come a little later. The limbs and sometimes the whole body jerks spasmodically, and in severe cases the power of speech is affected. Such a child should not be allowed to study, but should be kept quiet, given a nutritious diet, remain out of doors as much as possible. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will help the blood restore the shattered nerves. The value of these pills in cases of this kind is shown by the following statement from Mrs. Frank Reynolds, Windsor, N.S., who says: "When a young girl I suffered very severely from St. Vitus dance. I could not keep still for a moment. If I tried to handle dishes I broke them, and could not safely attempt to hold a thing in my hands. No matter what was done for me I could not control the twitching in my face and body. My parents gave me several remedies, but they did not help me. Then one day, my father brought home a half dozen boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After two boxes had been taken there was an improvement in my condition. By the time the last box was gone, to my own great joy and relief to our family, my condition was normal, and I have since enjoyed good health. I never lose an opportunity to say a good word for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

I SUFFERED FIVE YEARS

Finally Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Paris, Ont.—"For five years I suffered from pains caused by displacement of my organs and in my back. All of this time I was unfit for work and was taking different medicines that I thought were good. I saw the advertisement in the papers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it faithfully. I am now in perfect health and do all my own work. I recommend it to others, and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers as a testimonial."—Mrs. D. CASSADY, Paris, Ont.

Why women will continue to suffer so long is more than we can understand, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For forty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A Summer Frock Of Batiste

By Marie Belmont.

This charming dress is one that you could easily copy if you are at all gifted in the dressmaking line. The fabric from which it is evolved is a rose colored embroidered batiste which is extremely dainty. The bodice is cut on rather long-waisted lines that follow closely the lines of the figure. The skirt is unusually full and is finished with a scalloped hem. This is outlined with rose linen bands that are exceedingly fashionable. They are also used with equally good effect on the short sleeves and the neckline. A vestee of lace and a rose ribbon girdle complete this pleasing creation.

Lake Stocked With Fish.

The Dominion Fisheries Branch report during the season just closed shows that upward of 268,000,000 young whitefish were liberated in the Great Lakes and the Lake of the Woods. A large proportion of the eggs are secured from the commercial catch of fish which, but for activities of the department, would be wasted. The Sarnia hatchery this season sent 12,825,000 whitefish eggs to British Columbia.

To the Electors of Stony Plain Constituency.

Having been chosen by the Electors of this Constituency to stand as their Candidate for the coming Election, to represent them in the Legislative Assembly, now I wish to point out that this Constituency will greatly benefit by having a representative who is supporting the Stewart Government.

Having farmed all my life, until recently, I would consider myself in a position to cater to and anticipate the needs of the farming element, which constitutes so large a portion of this Constituency. There are a number of matters pertaining to Agriculture which come before the Legislature every session. By having as your representative one who thoroughly understands these matters, your interests would be safe in his hands.

If elected, I would consider it my duty to advance their interests to the fullest possible extent.
